FOREWORD

ESSE QUAM VIDERI

TO BE RATHER THAN TO SEEM

To be honest and clean and new as the page in life we opened as we entered Peace, fresh and ready to serve ourselves as we honestly did our best in school work and in our associations with new-found friends.

To be true as we grew together each day. Peace became our life, and we stood for truth and integrity as we worked and played with our friends, teachers, and roommates. In our social life and in our school work we were true to our ideals and goals.

To be brave as we face trials and tribulations together. Alone we were brave, and together, united, we shared our troubles as well as joys and were brave enough to overcome trials and to conquer temptations.

To be strong as the silent, white columns that have stood the test of time and have weathered storm and sun. Together we stand strong and proud—Strong in our belief in our Alma Mater and proud to be a part of Peace.

To be loyal as we go through life. Peace has given to us out of her bountiful store, and we must be loyal to her as well as to ourselves as we constantly strive to fulfill the hopes and ambitions that she has helped to develop and to create.

To be a Peace girl is to be honest, true, brave, strong, and loyal. Peace has enriched our lives socially, spiritually and scholastically, and we have given to her of our talents and arts as we tried to uphold her ideals. The girls who went before us built upon the tradition of Peace and so did we try to build as she helped us TO BE RATHER THAN TO SEEM TO BE Peace girls—honest, true, brave, strong, and loyal.

DEDICATION

MISS MAY McLELLAND

To Miss McLelland, by generations of Peace girls fondly called Miss May, we affectionately dedicate THE LOTUS of 1952. Not only has she listened patiently to our everyday trials, but she has given us wise counsel that has helped us solve our problems, kind encouragement that has made our way easier, and stern reprimand that has given us strength. Because she has been the true example of dignity, sincerity, and honor and because we admire and love her, we dedicate this annual to our dean.

TRIBUTE

MISS JULIA OATES

For the past few years Miss Julia Oates has been the head of the English department and advisor to the annual staff. She has given to us much from her rich store of knowledge and has helped us feel a deeper desire for learning and a keener responsibility in life. Her excellent teaching qualities have not surpassed her love and understanding through which she has helped us realize our dreams and set high our goals. She has been our friend, and we, the Peace girls, can say with the poet that we love her not only for what she is but also for that part she brings out in us. And so we proudly and lovingly pay tribute to Miss Oates in the 1952 Lotus.

DR. W. C. PRESSLY

President

Wise counselorship, unselfish industry, and true friendship have made Dr. Pressly an inspiration to all who know him. His sterling character, his diligent labor, and his love for Peace College have made him beloved by all members of the faculty and student body alike.

MISS MAY McCLELLAND

Dean

With a sincere interest in each of us, our dean has worked diligently and unselfishly to advise and to guide us with our many problems. Her invaluable assistance has made her a true and dear friend to whom we are indebted.

Class History

Dear Diary.

Now, as I sit here, leafing through your pages, your words refresh in my memory the times when I wrote of the events of those brief, happy years that I spent at Peace.

First, there was the day I arrived—September 12, 1950. "I am a little bit homesick," I confided to you that night after the welcoming party. But even as I wrote, Peace's warm, friendly atmosphere had already begun to creep into my heart. I had met so many girls, and my roommate and I immediately found that we had much in common in our long talk about "the boy." The recital and student-faculty reception ended our first busy week.

As the fall days grew shorter, we no longer felt like the "new girls": but our class grew closer together and closer to Peace. We elected our class officers, Wini Boggs, Anne Hunt, Peggy Grady, and Pat Lomax. We unanimously chose Mrs. Booth as our sponsor.

Glowing accounts of dances here and at State filled many of your pages, dear diary. "RUSH WEEK," I wrote in big letters because it was so much fun, with all those society parties. What a hard decision to make! But the beautiful initiation services strengthened our love for our choices. The banquet brought lots of good food and entertainment!

"Thanksgiving, 1950." We gave thanks by giving food baskets to all the maids. Then came the formal dinner that night.

From Thanksgiving to Christmas was only a skip and a jump. We found the true meaning of Christmas in the beautiful traditional pageant, Hall Prayers in the parlor, the Glee Club concert, and Christmas dinner finished the busy week; and for a happy bunch of Juniors, it was home for Christmas!

With January and February came the class stunts, followed by Peanut Week and Religious Emphasis Week. March brought with it the second quarter exams, which only temporarily dampened our spirits, because the Society Dance, Easter vacation, and the Junior-Senior Dance were soon to follow.

At last, May, and the May Day exercises. "I became a senior today!" I wrote on Class Day. Almost before we knew it, the Baccalaureate Sermon and Graduation Exercises were over. It was home for three months of well-earned rest for the class of 1952.

"My trip to the beach" or "my summer job" was the topic of conversation among the new and old students when we returned that fall. The beautiful P.S.C.A. Candlelight Service was the highlight of that first week end. Much to our surprise, we soon got back "in the swing" of school life; and we set forth, with a new and more determined effort, on this, our last year. We were ably led by Wini Boggs, Ann Turlington, and Betty Parsons, our officers.

Once again, I wrote of the dances, of Rush Week, and Rat Day, and of Thanksgiving, "They're wonderful," for, surely, our Senior year was the best!

My entry, "Miss May has adopted another cat," made the year a more memorable one, especially to those who sometimes had to search for it—the cat!

Christmas again, and a spirit that comes only with Christmas activities at Peace. I remember how pretty the white dresses were at the concert, the carol sing, and then in the candle-lit room.

Class stunt night, the Week of Sharing, and Peanut Week held our attention after Christmas, along with several food bazaars!

March and April were the "flower" months for us; that is, flowers for the Junior-Senior Dance and for Easter. Civic music concerts helped fill the schedule.

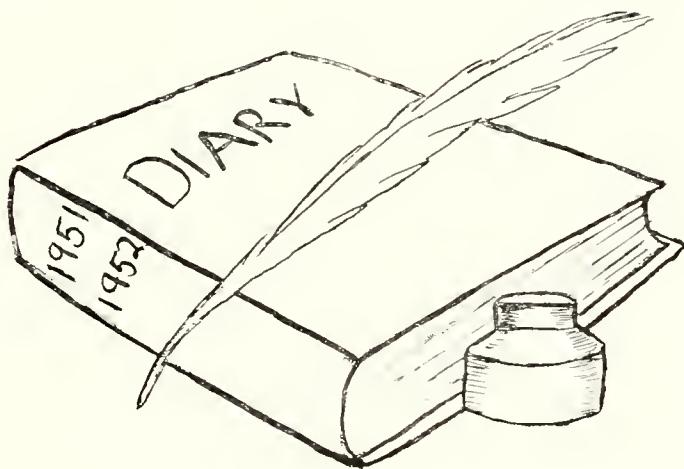

All too soon, it seemed to us this time, May came, bringing with it many activities for us.

We were invited to teas and parties in our honor. Final examinations came and passed. Class Day, and we were pinning those green and white Class Day ribbons on the rising seniors. There was more than one misty eye. The Baccalaureate Sermon was an inspiring challenge to us to live, no matter where, as Christians.

Then, red roses and white dresses—graduation, the day we had awaited since we entered in 1950. Now we were through, ready to leave the long halls, the winding stairways, and the now-quiet classrooms for the new horizons that lay before us; and yet, not ready to leave all our friends and the place which had become so dear to us. But the Class of 1952 was always ready to go forward, looking backward never. And so that night I wrote, "Dear Diary, tonight the Class of 1952 bade its Alma Mater a loving farewell and set forth to attain those goals toward which she inspired, guided, and prepared us."

ELIZABETH LAW

The Last Will and Testament

We, The class of 1952, being of sound body and mind (no side remarks, girls), do hereby present this last will and testament for the purpose of bequeathing certain qualities (valuable or otherwise) which we have acquired along the way, and conferring upon our successors the exalted position of Peace seniors, which is their true and rightful inheritance.

Article I

To the Junior class, who will be next year's seniors, we leave a sincere understanding and sympathy. (Believe us, you never had it so good!) Here's wishing you the best of everything in the coming year; may you realize what Peace has for you before too late. Keep its standards high!

Article II

Section 1: To Dr. Pressly, we leave a deep appreciation for the guidance and understanding you have given us both as individuals and as a class. Words cannot say what we feel in our hearts toward your constant willingness to help.

Section 2: To Miss McLelland, we leave you sincere thanks for your never-tiring interest in us and for your warm sense of humor that has made our life here at Peace more like home.

Article III

To Mrs. Booth, our sponsor, we leave the knowledge that we shall always remember your real interest and enthusiasm for all of our activities. A classful of thanks.

Article IV

To the teachers, we leave the wish that you will be able to derive real satisfaction from the thought that you were the ones who prepared us for life's future tests.

Article V

To various individuals:

Section 1: Joanne Jackson leaves her magnificent work, THE LOTUS, to everyone—so that they may remember Peace.

Section 2: Peggy Barnes leaves her sincere understanding and stick-to-it-ivity to our next president—also her "cuteness."

Section 3: Wini Boggs bequeaths her outstanding leadership ability and her "arch-support" shoes to Raye King.

Section 4: Peggy Howe leaves her patient disposition and sunny smile to Adelaide Clarke.

Section 5: Betsy Jane Tanner leaves the memories of her "wonderful" trip to Europe to El Nadal.

Section 6: Isora Peña leaves her remarkable ability to make American friends to the next Cuban Peace Girls.

Section 7: Catherine Rhodes and Ann Rowan leave—with hopes that two other jesters will take their places.

Section 8: Jean Sandlin leaves her Monday morning blues in the smoker for June Phillips to pick up when she passes through.

Section 9: Marv Thorpe leaves her many happy study hours at Peace to her roommate, Peggy Myers, with the hope that they will substitute for thoughts of the U. S. Navy.

Section 10: Frankie Waters leaves her love for Colorado and "hosses" to Earlene Bruin.

Section 11: Polly Sharpe leaves her wishes that the Day Students' Room be kept "looking decent" to Mary Clyde Cooper, with hopes that she can find someone who knows what a trash can is for.

Section 12: Anne Turlington bequeaths her tinkling, musical voice to Betty Nance.

Section 13: Margaret Corbett leaves her quiet ways to Joyce Wallace.

Section 14: Nancy Edwards leaves her nightly request spot on "Dreamtime" to Ann Poston.

Section 15: Olene Pleasants leaves her list of "schools attended" to Page Beale.

Section 16: Betty Parsons, an unaffected, "Gawgia" beauty, leaves her May Queen title to the next true beauty.

Section 17: Hilda Haywood leaves her Marshal duties to the next energetic young Peace enthusiast with this advice, "It takes footwork."

Section 18: Dot Norris leaves her "hill-billy" accent and her knitting ability to Rose Miller with the hope that she will benefit from both.

Section 19: Martha Seymour, who is all pooped out, leaves her constant rush from lunch to the library to Mickey Halstead.

Section 20: Phyllis Whitfield leaves all of her dates from State, Carolina, Duke, and Wake Forest to Kay Ryals.

Section 21: Nancy Clarke bequeaths her photogenic smile to Fannette Gore.

Section 22: Nelva Lee leaves her monitor duties in Typing Practice to Miriam Jenkins.

Section 23: Margaret Brock leaves her friendliness and her ability to stay with it to Ann Workman.

Section 24: Lillie Ellen Wise leaves all of her week ends at "Dook" to next year's biggest "Dook" fan.

Section 25: Mary Hardee leaves the details of her West Point trip for Peggy McCurdy to write a novel from.

Section 26: Elizabeth Law bequeaths her 200 wpm in shorthand to Barbara Sharp—her love for the Air Force she keeps!

Section 27: Cora Mae Shearin leaves her many trips to the doctor with Mrs. Davis to next year's unfortunate.

Section 28: Shirley Arthur leaves her ability to increase the Rho's membership to next year's president.

Section 29: Shirley Smith leaves her booklet on "How to Catch a Husband-To-Be in Three Months" to Annette Agee.

Section 30: Nancy Powell leaves her "model" characteristics and her quiet wit to Betsy Carr.

Section 31: Dot Wheless leaves her love for going home on week ends to Nell Adcock.

Section 32: Betsy Santleman leaves her typewriter to next year's commercial students with the hope that they can teach it to spell correctly.

Section 33: Anne Stallings leaves her boisterous ways and "aggressiveness" to Ida Rose Nethery.

Section 34: Rebecca Williams leaves her flirting ways to Lois Medlin.

Section 35: Millie Atkins bequeaths her sweet and petite features to anyone who also loves a "luscious" State man.

Section 36: Sybil Williams leaves her scatterbrain to Betsy Fort.

Section 37: Mary Jo Wright leaves her artist's temperament to Jean Seay.

Section 38: Gailya Smith leaves her never-tiring efforts for the Day Students to "get in there" to Barbara Beddingfield.

Section 39: Jane Wensil leaves her title of "Mrs." to any girl who is quick enough to grab it.

Section 40: Margaret Blue leaves her speed in shorthand dictation and her speed in general to Barbara Linker.

Section 41: Sylvia Workman leaves all of her excess weight to Betty Baker.

Section 42: Mary Lou Wygant leaves her favorite chair in the library to Libby Bruin with the hope that she will fill that "seat of learning" just as well.

Voices of Peace

The Class of 1952

May 26, 1952 was a glorious day for the class of 1952. After two years of study they had finally reached the goal—graduation! Yes, it was wonderful, but as the girls began to say good-bye, thoughts ran through their minds—"What has the future in store for us?" In this issue of the Voices of Peace I want to give you an account of what the future did hold for those girls.

Shirley Smith finally changed her name from Shirley "Just" Smith to Mrs. Buddy Edgar Miller. When Buddy got out of the army, they built a service station, "Shirley Edgar Miller's Place" in Roanoke, Va. and are now doing a good business.

Peggy Howe, Peggy Barnes and Elizabeth Law are rapidly climbing the ladder to success in the musical world, now appearing at a night spot in Norfolk, Va.—Peggy Barnes singing, Peggy Howe dancing, and Liz Law playing the piano. The trio's favorite number is "It gives us joy and cheer".

As owners of the First National Bank in Baltimore, Md., Nelva Lee and Margaret Corbett have done well in the business world. Nancy Edwards is also in Baltimore as the private secretary to Mary Thorpe and Milly Atkins, Attorneys-at-Law. Mary does the talking and Milly the defending.

Jean Sandlin, who has at last realized her ambition, owns the "Shrimp Boat" that takes people on tours across the Delaware. Her interest in people has paid off. Wini Boggs and Shirley Arthur, too, have really reached the top. Wini is now principal of a small grammar school in Virginia, and Shirley is Professor of Sociology at Duke University. Neither one is married yet, but they still have hope, so they say.

"The Betty Belle Parsons," a dress shop on Fifth Avenue in New York, is owned by our "I declare" Betty Parsons. She lives with Margaret Bluc who is in New York, too. She is singing at the Stork Club, and I hear that you have to be worth at least a thousand dollars a night to get to talk with Maggie.

News Week reported that Mary Hardee, Gailya Smith, and Mary Jo Wright have a small art studio at the seashore. To make a little money on the side they work in a fish factory where they can and cook.

Mary Lou Wygant is teaching chemistry at State College. She finally became a nurse, but a professor at State persuaded her that being a wife and mother with teaching as a hobby was more important than being a nurse. Sylvia Workman and Lillie Wise who own the Darling Shop also have homes and families—Jimmy and Max made a home run.

Polly Sharpe was home recently on a short vacation. She is now appearing on the Red Skelton show on T.V. Martha Seymour is her secretary, and I hear the two of them keep full date books in the big city.

I saw Dorothy Wheless at Club 16. She and John were celebrating their ninth wedding anniversary. They didn't wait long after her graduation. Dot Norris and her husband, Howard, are at Daytona Beach on their second honeymoon. They left the twins at home with Dot's mother. Barbara Cain is now Mrs. Buddy Clement. She and Buddy have a grocery store at Fort Bragg. Nancy Powell finally married Glenn, and they now own the Bame Hotel at Carolina Beach, where they welcome all Peace girls.

Hilda Haywood is a traveling saleswoman for the Garrett's Snuff Company, but she hasn't learned to use her product yet. Joanne Jackson, who is now editor of the New York Times, recently wrote an article about Jane Wensil. Jane, who is Ambassador to Ecuador, has just returned from there with her husband, Lee, who is an engineer in that country.

Betsy Santelmann and Anne Stallings are working in Washington, D. C., for the F.B.I. They now are doing detailed assignments in France where they recently saw Betsy Jane Tanner who is in Paris modeling—she tops all the French girls, they say.

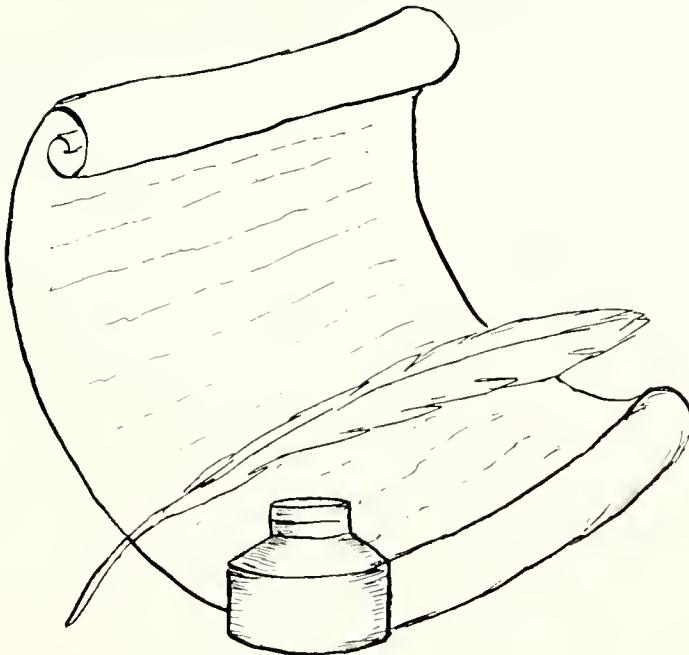

Olene Pleasants and Sybil Williams are vacationing from their jobs as mothers at the Whitfield & Williams Hotel in Florida, owned by two old Peace Girls, Phyllis Whitfield and Rebecca Williams. Isora Peña and Margaret Brock were there several weeks ago. Isora is singing with the Metropolitan Opera and Margaret is her secretary.

Ann Rowan and Nancy Clarke are working in Raleigh. They have a one-room apartment on Halifax Street. Nancy is working at Halifax Street Grocery Store as head cashier and is still waiting for Jordan to finish school. Rowan has a regular job at Walgreen's and a regular fellow, too. She has made the last payment on her diamond and plans to be married as soon as Tom asks her.

Some of the girls liked Peace so much that they are still here. Frankie Waters has taken Mrs. Davis' place as nurse, and Anne Turlington is following in Miss Bean's "fingersteps." They are keeping things lively and always welcome friends from the class of 1952. As for yours truly—I, too, like the dear old Alma Mater so well that I have made it my home. As dean I have ceased publishing "The Bulletin" and am now writing all the news in the Voices of Peace.

Class Poem

Our years at Peace have ended
The good-byes are near at hand
It seems like only yesterday
That college life began.
But to each of us the years remain
As a highlight of our life
We feel these years have made it plain,
That the Door of Opportunity is bright.

CLASS POEM

We, the Class of fifty-three,
Raise our voices in praise of thee.
For the hours of study, of rest and of play
For the time of fellowship at the close of day
For the kindness shown us when we were new
Dear Peace, we extend a hearty "thank you!"
Now it's closing time and we're packing our gear
We Juniors are enthusiastically awaiting next year.

International Relations Club

The Peace International Relations Club sponsors plans,

Whereby the whole campus may study current events of other lands.

The club meets for lecture, discussion and debate

And to learn the problems of each national state.

Very interested in international relations they are,

And the hope of "world peace" is always their "guiding star."

DAY STUDENTS WORKING-

Outstanding

FRANCES WATERS

As president of the Peace Student Christian Association, "Frankie" has added much to the religious life at Peace. Her sweetness and understanding attitude have made her outstanding among the students. She is a member of the Student Council, Papyrus Club, and the P.H.R. She also finds time to be in the Christmas Pageant, Stunt Night, and May Day. "Frankie" will go far, and life will be kind to her, rewarding her for considerate ways.

POLLY SHARPE

Outstanding is certainly the word for this hard-working day student, for as President of the Day Students she is always promoting some new idea or activity at Peace. Polly impresses all who meet her as a sincere, industrious and yet fun-loving person. She has proved her ability in many ways—as a member of the Alpha Pi Epsilon Society, Glee Club, and as a marshal for the Pi Theta Mu Society. Because of her untiring zeal and efficiency, Polly's future is as bright as her smile.

Seniors

NANCY POWELL

A living example to prove that personality and intelligence come in the same package is Nancy. Not only is she a member of the Alpha Pi Epsilon and Student Council, but she is also a Privileged Honor Roll member and a marshal. Her fine attitude and high ideals are shown in her participation in campus activities. Nancy will succeed in whatever she seeks to do.

PEGGY HOWE

Peggy's captivating smile brings sunshine wherever she goes. Her genuine interest and considerate ways make everyone her friend. As Business Manager of THE LOTUS, Vice-President of the P.S.C.A. Cabinet, a member of the Student Council, and a P.H.R., she has shown a variety of abilities. Because of her untiring zeal and effort Peggy will make her future a successful one.

Outstanding

HILDA HAYWOOD

Hilda is gifted with an attractiveness and capability that accent her sweetness. She has a great interest in her duty as Chief Marshal. She is a member of the Student Council and Peace Student Christian Association. A willing worker, she has helped to make the Christmas and Easter Pageants a success. The future holds for her many promises of success.

WINIFRED BOGGS

"Wini," as she is known to the girls at Peacc, is full of vitality and school spirit that give her the will to tackle anything. She has served as president of her class in both its junior and senior years, as a member of the Student Council, the P.S.C.A. Cabinet, and the P.H.R. She can direct a "stunt" — and participate and organize a Junior-Senior prom, and even handle a vivacious mascot. "Wini" finds time for the I.R.C. and the Papyrus Club—and for a bit of smiling conversation in the hall. She won't need a push to get to the top.

Seniors

MARGARET BLUE

A Privileged Honor Roll Member with a mind for sports, that's Margaret. As president of the Athletic Association, vice-president of Rho Delta Chi, and a member of the Student Council, Margaret has shown her willing spirit. Her personality and rare wit make her a friend to all. She also finds time to be in the Christmas Pageant, May Day, and Stunt Night.

SHIRLY ARTHUR

Shirly's friendliness and sincerity are obvious in all she attempts to do. Besides being on the Privileged Honor Roll, she is president of Rho Delta Chi, a member of the Student Council, the Peace Student Christian Association, and the International Relations Club. She has taken part in the Christmas Pageant, Society plays, and the choir. Her future looms bright and promising.
